WHAT'S ON THIS MONTH

August 5 th	WORKSHOP Hands on Lighting
August 12 th	EVALUATION Display & Discuss
August 19 th	COMPETITION Illustrate a Song

FROM THE PRESIDENT

August is here, which means we are not too far away from a season change. We go from winter to spring. So the opportunities for those of us who like to capture those cold moody frosty mornings, will soon diminish and we will have to start looking at the warmer days and rebirth of our gardens and other aspects of nature that surround us.

The weeks are flying by and at the end of this month we will have what has become a favourite too many members and that is our "Illustrate a Song" comp. For our newer members who have not seen this, make sure you come to this comp. It will open your eyes to a whole new style of photography.

Earlier this month though, we have our Hands on Lighting Workshop, so on the 5th come armed with your camera and tripod and see what happens behind those studio shots.

We also have an Evaluation Night which is a great way to learn to improve your images if you are either participating by bringing some images, or just having a listen to the thoughts of others.

Also on the 16th of next month, just 6 or so weeks away, is our club's very first "Portfolio Presentation Night", again another style of photography. So those people who are working on their portfolios, you now have around 6 weeks to fine tune your work and bounce ideas off others if you wish.

There is plenty happening over the next few weeks for all members who want to get their hands, heads & cameras going. Happy snapping.

Remain in Light: MCA photography on Show in the Hawkesbury

Exhibition 7 August – 4 October 2015

A stunning collection of photography from the Museum of Contemporary Art (MCA) will open at Hawkesbury Regional Gallery in Windsor on Friday 7 August at 6pm. Tracing the development of contemporary photographic practice over the last 50 years, the display will continue until Sunday 4 October.

According to Gallery Director, Diana Robson, Remain in Light crosses a range of media including black and white photography, artist books, photolithography and digital photography, and brings together around 70 works. It presents Australian photographers alongside international, and draws on works from both the MCA Collection and the JW Power Collection.

“Viewed collectively, these works convey how photography has been at the centre of critical debates and themes throughout late 20th and 21st century art,” Diana said. “From the photo-document to mass-produced imagery, through to the rise of online platforms like Flickr and Instagram for image distribution, Remain in Light looks at how traditional genres of photographic practice have been reinvigorated.

The MCA Collection consists of more than 4,000 works acquired since the constitution in 1989 of the Museum of Contemporary Art. The MCA also manages the Power Collection on behalf of the University of Sydney, which contains over 3,000 works brought together since the late 1960s through the JW Power Bequest.

Members and friends of the Camera Club are welcome to attend the official opening on Friday 7 August at 6pm.

The Hawkesbury Regional Gallery is located at 300 George Street Windsor 2756. More info see <http://goo.gl/ZfgOgu>
